2010 ART SERIES CHARDONNAY

A NEW AND REFRESHING FACE OF CHARDONNAY.

Peter Lehmann has led a colourful life. He created one of Australia's most respected and popular wine brands by defying accepted wisdom, courting near misses and narrow scrapes, and never shirking the opportunity to challenge a norm. This wine is a testament to the man and his bravery to dream.

Our Chardonnay winemaking philosophy at Peter Lehmann is about making a delicate, soft refreshing style with the accent very much on letting the fruit flavours come to the fore. By blending fruit from vineyards in the lower Barossa Valley with those from the higher, cooler Eden Valley, we have made a wine with great depth of flavour with a truly stylish, taut structure.

Andrew Wigan, Chief Winemaker

Winemaker's note

A delicate pale lemon colour leads onto a typically stylish Chardonnay showing fresh white peach and melon fruit with a background hint of barrel fermentation character and a soft, dry finish. This wine drinks beautifully in its vibrant youth but can be cellared with confidence for another 3-5 years where it will develop depth and complexity.

Vintage

After a short burst of heat in late January and early February the weather settled down and was warm and stable throughout February and March producing delicate white wines of exceptional quality.

Vineyards

A blend from 69% Barossa Valley and 31% Eden Valley mature Chardonnay vineyards.

Winemaking

20% of the fruit underwent wild ferment in new French oak hogsheads with the balance being fermented cold in stainless steel. The separate components were then aged on their yeast lees for 6 months to give some complexity and texture and finally blended and bottled.

Enjoy

It makes a splendid accompaniment to roast chicken or pork or creamy pasta dishes.
